UKAS Academy eLearning

Our range of eLearning modules have been developed to help demystify some of the more complex topics surrounding accreditation, providing you with on-demand support through course modules that are available anytime and anywhere, including:

- Ensuring the validity of results
- Identification, documentation and management of risk
- Introduction to measurement uncertainty
- Introduction to metrological traceability
- Key components of a quality management system

- Decision rules and statements of conformity
- Nonconforming work, cause and extent
- Micro module: training and competency
- Micro module: auditor/assessor skills
- Micro module: internal audit – key considerations

Find out more about these eLearning courses and many more at UKAS.com, or call +44 (0) 1784 429018 to discuss your requirements with the Academy team.

"Both trainers were excellent, they clearly have a great deal of experience and answered all questions with clarity. The course was ultimately fun as well as a learning experience, it was well structured and delivered just what it said it would."

Delegate from Laboratory Management – Role of the Quality Manager & Technical Management course

"Our trainer was fantastic and made it a relaxed environment to ask questions and discuss topics. The main highlight was gaining a more detailed understanding of the standard and being able to communicate and ask questions with other delegates."

James Pool, Centre for Assessment Ltd

Attending a course is just the beginning...

The process of developing good working practises and discovering new techniques starts as soon as you begin to use your new skills. Access to our monthly web-based post-course clinics is free for 12 months after your training.

With technical concepts, it is sometimes just easier to ask a question face to face. Access to all our web-based post-course clinics are included as part of our course offering with video enabled for all participants. Typically available on the first Friday of every month for an hour, these clinics offer the opportunity to meet with your peers and to bring any post-course questions to the training team who will provide clarity and guidance to support your development.

Find out more or to book your post course clinic click here to visit us online.
